Why are activities like Student Council State officers important?

Vice President-Kelsey Bradley

Student Council grants students the opportunity to express and highlight themselves. Through helping charities, boosting school spirit, remaining responsible, and incorporating the ideas of others, students involved in Student Council are shaped into leaders. Not only does it promote leadership, StuCo also emphasizes how essential working up to one's full potential truly is.

Secretary-Krystal Kaiser

Without activities like Student Council the students would not be heard. It acts as the vessel for communication and community service. It not only benefits the school but the surrounding area as well. It gives everyone the opportunity to make a difference

President -Michaela Brown

Student Council is important to set an example for the entire student body. As young leaders our peers look to us for leadership and guidance. We all know how easy it is in high school to stay away from our goals and lose sight of what is right. With the example of student council, students are inspired to be more involved, harder working scholars, and most important better people.

Exec. Member Special Projects-Shobhit Jain

Student Council is the voice of the student body. Not only does it motivate students to make a difference, but it also shapes the student leaders of today to become the adult leaders of tomorrow.

Alex Schneeberg—Treasurer

Student Council is important because it allows everyone to have a voice. Through student council, everyone can make a difference. In addition, student council is a great way to meet new people and learn different perspectives.

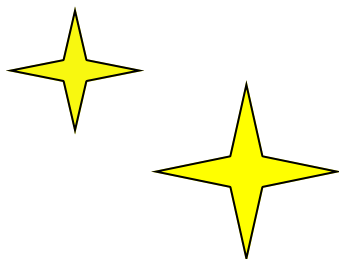

Erin Contiliano—Middle Level Rep.

Activities like Student Council are important because they offer opportunities that help spark success in life. As Bruce Springsteen, The Boss, said in one of his songs “You can’t start a fire without a spark.” This means that success cannot be sparked if not for the opportunities provided by Student Council.

Deidre Lewis—Publications

Activities like Stu.Co are important because it lets students be a part of their high school. By sharing ideas, promoting events, being aware of what’s going on at school but with a student’s point of view. It also gives you a say in your student body.

Sam Puja—State BOE Rep.

Extracurricular activities, with Student Council as the frontrunner, prepare students with fundamental life skills. To take on an activity in addition to academic studies teaches students responsibility, dedication, organization, and time management. These skills are pivotal in the 'real world'. The opportunity to learn such skills in schools should be taken advantage of by all students.

Tessa Trach—State Charity

StuCo is so important because it allows students to express themselves through their peers. Students involved in StuCo have a chance to explore leadership positions, some which may even lead to future careers. Also, StuCo is a way to encourage school spirit and ultimately better the school community.
